

THE DEVIL OF THE SEVA SEA

STORY, TEXT AND ARTWORK: HORST KREUDER

THE DEVIL OF THE SEVA-SEA

©Horst Kreuder

Artwork (1980) • Text (1980/2025)

Colour version and layout 2025

Reproduction and publication only with expressed permission.

Contact: depeschen@nauticalfiction.net

Home: www.nauticalfiction.net

DER SEETEUFEL

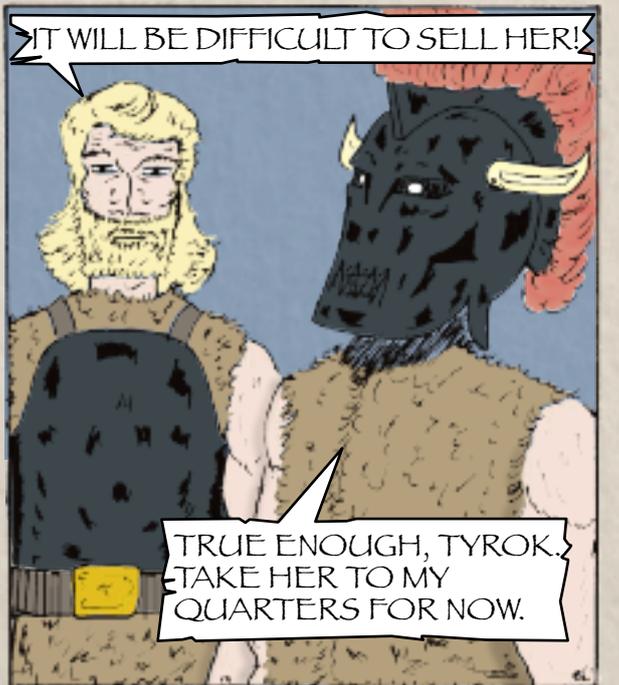

THE MIGHTY 'EAGLE OF FEAR' CUTS THROUGH THE WAVES. THE SHIP OF BARAK – THE SEA DEVIL OF THE SEVA-SEA – IS ON A NEW HUNT FOR PREY.

O GREAT BARAK, THE RAFT WITH THE TRIBUTE FROM THE MERCHANTS OF BLOK.

GREAT SKUT! THE PRINCESS OF BLOK!

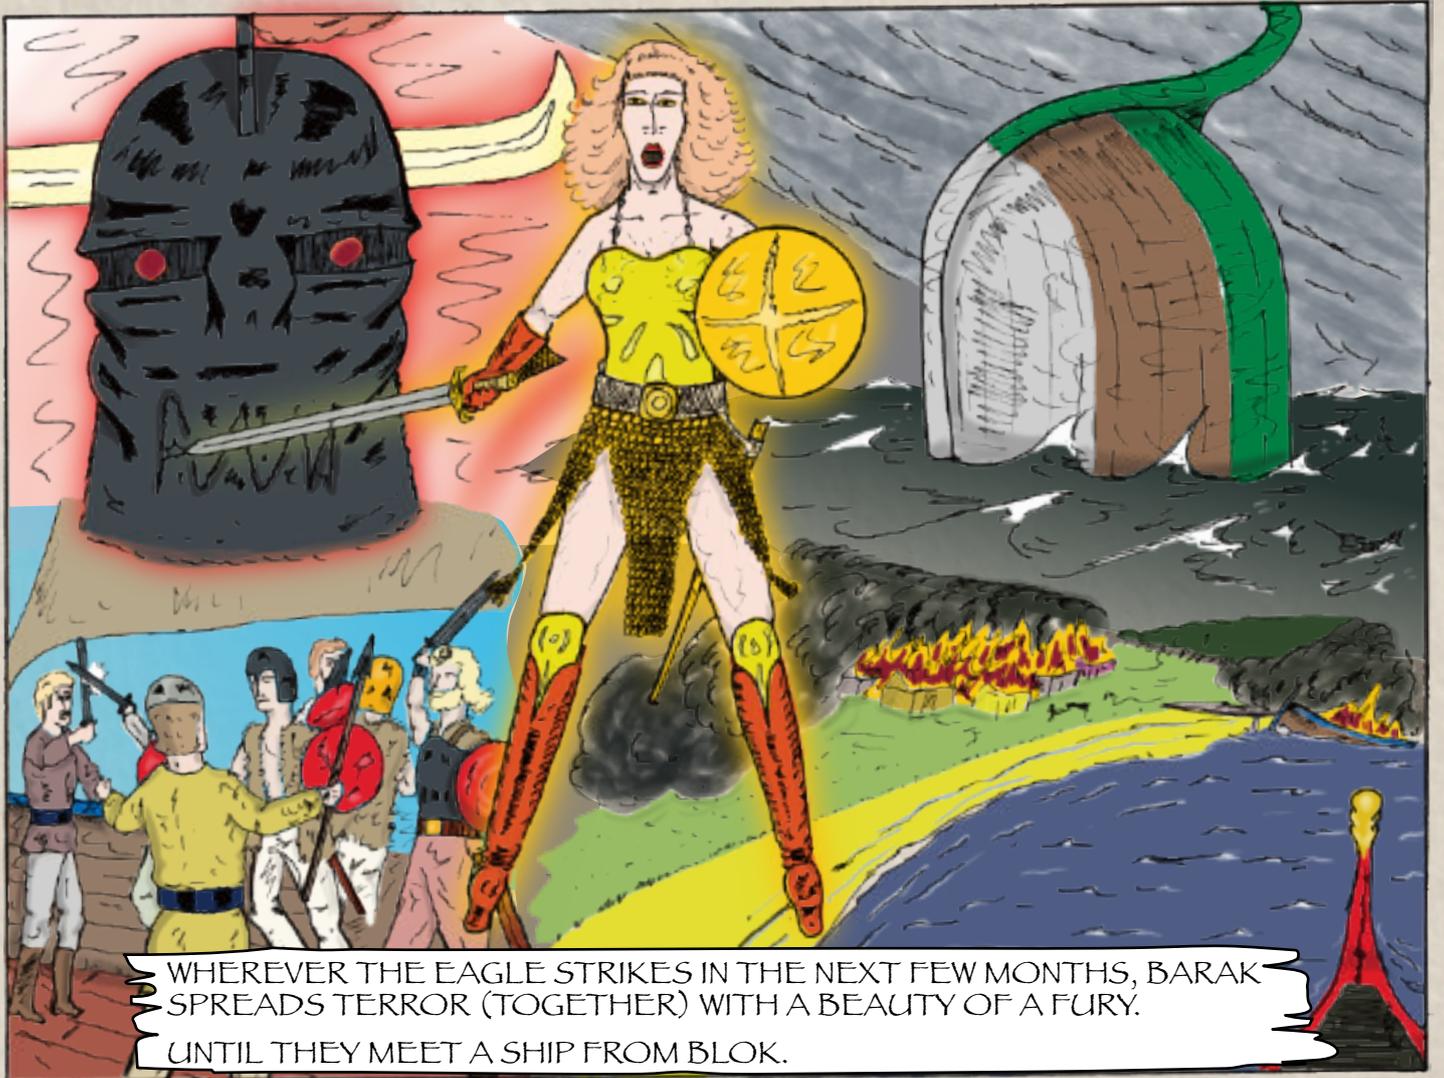

IT WILL BE DIFFICULT TO SELL HER!

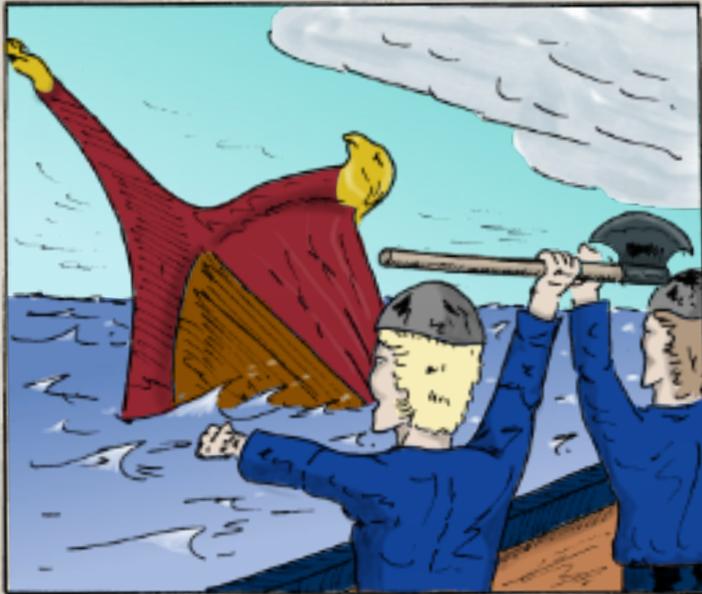

TRUE ENOUGH, TYROK. TAKE HER TO MY QUARTERS FOR NOW.

YOU'RE NOT THE KIND OF WOMAN WHO GIVES IN TO FATE, ARE YOU?!

NO...

BARAK HAD BEEN CAUGHT IN A TRAP. INSTEAD OF TREASURES, THE HERALD OF THE GODS CARRIED SOLDIERS OF THE MERCHANTS OF BLOK. THEY QUICKLY DEFEATED THE PIRATES, WHO HAD BEEN ROBBED OF THEIR LEADER. THE EAGLE WAS SUNK TO THE CHEERS OF THE VICTORS. BARAK HIMSELF, IT WAS SAID, HAD BEEN KILLED BY THE PRINCESS.

THIS DAY MARKED A TURNING POINT ON THE SEVA SEA. BLOK NO LONGER PAID TRIBUTE TO PIRATES. INSTEAD, IT EQUIPPED A WAR FLEET. COMMAND WAS GIVEN TO A YOUNG SEA CAPTAIN WHO QUICKLY WON THE PRINCESS'S HEART.

THERE WAS MUCH THAT WAS STRANGE ABOUT THIS SANDAR-I-BAH-RAC. NO ONE KNEW HIS ORIGINS, AND HE FOUGHT AS FIERCELY AS THE ONCE-FEARED SEA DEVIL. HE PARDONED BARAK'S LOYAL TYROK AND MADE HIM COMMANDER OF HIS FLAGSHIP.

LATER, IT WAS SAID THAT THE PRINCE OF BLOK KEPT AN OLD HELMET SOMEWHERE, LOCKED AWAY.

